The Instructional Design Team has developed a course for faculty inside eLearn. The CONTENT in the course displays information about eLearn, software you may want to use with eLearn, free content for your course from the Internet, and other materials for faculty use and information. Faculty are entered inside the course in a student role, so you see everything in the course from the student point of view. To find the course, go to eLearn and log in. Scroll down the page until you see "My Walters State Community College Course" and click on the tab labeled STUDENT. Click on the course called "Faculty Development" and then, inside the course, click on CONTENT. Let David White (david.white@ws.edu) know if you cannot see this course inside your eLearn.
